Gen. Willson has forwarded a list of seventy-eight officers of the Kentucky National Guard from which to select those who are to be sent to the Mexican border. On this list are the following Hopkinsville officers: Col. J. H. Henry, Lieut. Col.
E. B. Bassett, Capt. A. G. Chapman,

First Lieut. Ben S. Winfree, and Capt. Edward W. Clark.

In a speech at Dallas, Tex., Col.
Theodore Roosevelt said it would be an act of criminal folly to fail to fortify the Panama Canal. He said that the only treaties existing were those with England and Panama, and any other nation would be at liberty to destroy the canal in case of war.

The United States Supreme Court in an unanimous opinion held that the corporation tax was not unconstitutional. The opinion, which was announced by Justice Day, stated it was an excise tax on the doing of corporate business and not a tax on the ownership of property.

The Mexican insurgent force, which has been actively engaged in burning bridges and tearing up railroad tracks south of Jarez, is head-

No Need to Stop Work.

When your doctor orders you to stop work, it staggers you. "I can't" you say. You know you are weak, run down and failing in health day by day, but you must work as long as you can stand. What you need is Electric Bitters to give tone, strength, and vigor to your system, to prevent breakdown and build you up. Don't be weak, sickly or ailing when Electric Bitters will benefit you from the first dose. Thousands bless them for their glorious health and strength. Try them. Every bottle is guaranteed to satisfy. Only 50c at all druggists.

Grows Through Bone.

On display in the Kentuckian window is somewhat of a curiosity in the shape of an asparagus slip, the root of which has grown through a bone. The asparagus stalk was grown by Mr. H. P. Allen, of this city, in his garden. The growth of the root was so vigorous that it cracked the bone in places in making its way through.

Forced to Leave Home.

Every year a large number of poor sufferers, whose lungs are poor and racked with coughs, are urged to go to another climate. But this is costly and not always sure. There's a better way. Let Dr. King's New Discovery cure you at home. "It cured me of lung trouble," writes W. E. Nelson, of Calumet, Ark., "when all else failed and I gained 47 pounds in weight. Its surely the king of all cough and lung cures." Thousands owe their lives and health to it. It's positively guaranteed for Coughs, Colds, LaGrippe, Asthma, Croup, all Throat and Lung troubles.

MEETING IN MEMPHIS

Establishes Identity of Markham Brothers at Memphis Saturday.

"DO YOU REMEMBER?"

President of I. C. Finds Long Lost Relative After 40 Years Separation.

All doubt about the relationship of Charlie Markham, the new president of the Illinois Central system, as the baby brother of John Markham, the aged bricklayer of Hopkinsville, was dispelled Saturday night when the two brothers met in Memphis for the first time since the younger brother was a small child.
The scene after the relationship was established was affecting, and tears flowed freely from the eyes of both brothers.

Several days ago the two brothers talked over the long distance telephone, and although the remembrances of early childhood in Clarksville were alike, President Markham was not fully satisfied that he had found his long lost brother until a conference was held in Memphis Saturday. The aged brother, who is 30 years older than the railroad president, passed through Paducah enroute to Memphis, where the Illinois Central president was in his private car.

The two brothers did not know each other by sight as John Markham had not seen his baby brother since he was a small child. Father Time had changed their general appearances, but a few words of the old home near Clarksville soon established that brotherly tie.

"Charley, do you remember the time I took you on horseback to the dentist and you had a tooth pulled?" began the aged brother.

"Yes I do. I never can forget that," replied the younger brother.
Then it was established that they were really brothers. The scene of the railroad, president clasping the form of his aged brother was too much for the few witnesses. Then a long talk followed between the two brothers about the family.

When John returned from the war he found that his father had died and that his mother with the baby brother had removed from the state.
He never knew the whereabouts of his brother, until Mr. Markham's name was given publicity when he was elected president of the Illinois Central system.—Paducah Sun.

A Dreadful Sight.

to H. J. Barnum, of Freeville, N.
Y., was the fever-sore that had plagued his life for years in spite of many remedies he tried. At last he used Bucklen's Arnica Salve and wrote: "It has entirely healed with scarcely a scar left." Heals burns, boils, eczema, Cuts, Bruises, Swellings, Corns and Piles like magic.
Only 25c at all druggists.

Transferring Property.

Murray, Ky., March 13.—It is reported that alleged night riders are transferring their property to their wives and other relatives. It is supposed this anticipation of another suit in the federal court. It was admitted by one man that he was doing it for that reason. What case it is cannot be learned.

Not a Word of Scandal.

married the call of a neighbor on Mrs. W. P. Spangh, of Manville, Wyo., who said: "She told me Dr.
King's New Life Pills had cured her of obstinate kidney trouble, and made her feel like a new woman." Easy, but sure remedy for stomach, liver and kidney troubles. Only 25c at all druggists.

Battling Down And Out.

Washington, March 13.—The responsibility of the secretaryship of the Department of the Interior was shifted shortly before 10 o'clock today, when Walter L. Fisher, of Chicago, took the oath of office as head of that department, succeeding Richard A. Ballinger who retired.

Old Lady's Sage Advice.

Knoxville, Tenn.—Mrs. Mamie Towe, of 102 W. Main Street, this city, says: "If you had seen me, before I began to take Cardui, you would not think I was the same person. Six doctors failed to do me good, and my friends thought I would die. I could hardly get out of bed or walk a step. At last an old lady advised me to take Cardui, and now I can go most any where." All ailing women need Cardui, as a gentle, refreshing tonic, especially adopted to their peculiar ailments.
It is a reliable, vegetable remedy, successfully used for over 50 years.
You ought to try it.

AMUSEMENTS

Kissable Lips.

The honor of having the most kissable lips in the world is one which has been captured by Miss Dorothy Howard who is singing the role of Winnie Widson in "Dan Cupid" which plays an engagement at Holland's Opera House Friday night, March 17. Miss Howard, when she chooses to pucker up her lips for osculatory purposes, is without a doubt entitled to the title, as has been proved on numerous occasions. Only the other day in a Min-city, where the company was playing Miss Howard was singing a song entitled "I'd Like to Have you Call me Honey" and as it was part of the business of the piece to sing to someone, she chose a brawny son of toil fresh from the agricultural districts, who was seated in a stage box. As she sang on and leaning toward him puckered up her lips in the most tempting manner, the gentleman from the farm disregarding alike convention and custom cried "By gum, you can't dare me" and leaping on the stage endeavored to clasp the terrified actress in his arms.
Miss Howard fled to the wings in fright, and now she tries the most kissable mouth in the world upon some less determined man person in the audience, to avoid a repetition of this scene.

TEACHING CHIVALRY.

My dear little boy has been taught by his father's example, as well as by his teaching, that his mother is the weak one, the one to be cared for and helped. He does not think mamma should get his hat, find his books and wash his face, but rather that he should get ready for school, get plenty of wood for her, and help her with the dishes if possible. Then when he comes home he has his reward, for after the fire is laid and more wood in, he can play until supper time. This little boy looks up and cares for his little sister in the same manner as he does his mother.
—M. B., in Harper's Bazar.

AUSTRALIAN LIVE STOCK.

Statistics show that the number of stock in South Australia is increasing rapidly. At the end of last year there were 7,609,583 head of live stock. The number of horses totalled 253,884, the greater portion of these being valuable draft horses, which are used for farm purposes. Every effort is being made to maintain the quality of the horse produced. Stallions which compete at agricultural shows that are subsidized by the government are required to undergo an examination and produce a government certificate of soundness.

Probably there is nothing more industrious than an idle rumor.

Extravagant
Economy

"What an exquisite hat!" exclaimed the caller. "What on earth are you ripping it up for? It is the height of style and a perfect beauty."

"For those very reasons I am bent on its destruction," Loretta replied grimly. "If it were in the least old-fashioned or worn I should keep it and wear it gladly."

"How absurd! Are you going to retire from society and give up all gayeties, hereafter?"

"Far from it. Because I want to continue to go out in what you are pleased to call society I give up wearing this hat."

"I love mysteries," declared the caller. "But it's time to enlighten me. Don't you like the hat?"

"I love it, I fairly dote on it, I dream of it at night," raved Loretta. "I never had a hat before that was so becoming. If I do say it, as I shouldn't.
It goes perfectly with my best dress and three young men have asked to meet me since I began to wear it.
Nevertheless I am never going to put that hat on again."

"That sounds like one of the novels in which the girl quarrels with her lover and will never wear the pink organdie again in all her life. She puts the thing away in lavender and brings it out fifty years later to show her favorite grandniece."

"There's no romance in this," laughed Loretta. "Just plain everyday finances and high economy."

"The first day I put it on," she related, "I wore it to a tea and Evelyn Trempe was there. Evelyn is interested in social settlements and she stood and watched me intently for a while before she came over to speak to me."

"I should think she might," observed the caller. "You must be well worth looking at in that hat."

"It was the hat," Loretta acknowledged. "Evelyn finally asked me to subscribe to the boys' camping fund.
I told her with my usual frankness that I could not afford it just now and she shrugged her shoulders and smiled that sort of queer offish smile that is so provoking."

"The hat!"

"Yes, but I didn't realize till some time afterward that that was at the bottom of it. The next time I put the hat on I was asked by the treasurer of our church if I would just as lief give my whole subscription to the mortgage fund this month instead of doling it out at the rate of $1 a week.
When I told him I had such a small amount of money at any time that it was a matter of instalments or nothing with me he raised one eyebrow and walked away."

"Why, my dear girl, that is thread lace on that hat and the brocade never cost less than $15 a yard!"

"It's even worse than that," sighed Loretta. "The price of the hat is far beyond my calculation. But let me go on. When I was coming home from Janet's tea I stopped at the tailor's to ask about suits. He gave me such large estimates that I protested, and he smoothly replied with a glance at my hat: 'Well, mademoiselle can afford it.' Wasn't it absurd?"

"Served you right for combining business with pleasure."

"That isn't all," Loretta went on.
"My dentist bill was $10 more than I expected it to be and when I racked my memory I recalled that I had worn this hat into his office to make an appointment some time ago. By the way, did you know that Jean is provoked with me?"

"No, I hadn't heard of it. Is that the hat's fault, too?"

"It certainly is. She had an idea that we ought to give Miss Watson a big wedding present—all our sewing circle, you know. As I had already bought a handsome pair of candlesticks for her I told Jean that I couldn't afford to contribute more than $1. Jean was satisfied for a while, but since she saw my hat at Dora's she hasn't been quite amiable
to me."

"Well, you must acknowledge that hat could never have cost less than $100 in all its little life."

"That hat cost just 15 cents," declared Loretta.

"Nonsense!"

"I made it myself," Loretta went on. "And my only expense was the wire frame that I bought at a sale."

"But the lace and the brocade and the flowers?"

"The top of the hat is my great-grandmother's lace parasol," Loretta explained. "It was worn all around the edges, but the center was perfect.
The lace on the brim came from an old dress my grandmother had, so though it is fine thread lace it cost me nothing. The brocade underneath is a piece of a quaint gown an ancessor of mine wore when she danced with Lafayette. I wouldn't let the milliner cut it, so it isn't hurt at all.
The flowers are some my mother had on a trousseau hat she didn't wear much and the buckle belonged to my father's grandfather, who wore it on his shoes. And that's the whole story."

"All that history makes it more of a pity to cut it up," said Loretta.
"Oh, no. It doesn't," said Loretta.
"I want to take it to pieces in time to let me keep at least a few friends and save me from the general charge of being too stingy to live!"
